

Home	Account	Tools & Data	Educate	Contribute	News	ETFs	Sectors	Video	About
------	---------	--------------	---------	------------	------	------	---------	-------	-------

IT Contract Hiring Increases in Q2 2009

Tuesday, July 28, 2009 10:59 AM

(Source: Business Wire)According to a study released today, the number of IT contract jobs grew by over 4% in Q2 2009, continuing a growth trend that started in Q4 2009. Corp-Corp.com (www.corp-corp.com), an online IT consulting marketplace, conducted the study from March 1 through June 30, 2009.

Corp-Corp.com compiled this data by analyzing over 150,000 IT jobs posted by over 750 companies across the United States. The full report can be found at http://www.corp-corp.com/press-release/Market_Report_2009_Q2.htm.

"One of the best arguments for the longevity of the current economic rebound is temporary hiring," said Prabakaran Murugaiah, CEO of Corp-Corp.com. "Many companies that cut back to bare bones staff during the worst of the recession are now beginning to hire contract workers."

According to Murugaiah: "Full-time, regular employment may not pick up until corporate management believes there is sustainable growth in the US economy, but they continue to be willing to spend on contract positions, and our analysis projects growth of at least 6% in Q3 2009."

About Corp-Corp.com

Corp-Corp (www.Corp-Corp.com) is a fast growing online marketplace that matches available consultants with consulting projects in less than 30 seconds. Over 5,000 IT consulting /staffing companies registering approximately 25,000 contract IT Jobs per month at Corp-Corp.com portal and proprietary FETCH profile technology enables IT recruiters to find the best available talent from thousands of third party staffing companies instantly.

A service of YellowBrix, Inc.

Rate this Commentary

Comments \(0\)

No Comments